

YOUR RESOURCE FOR FLOORS — AND BEAUTIFUL INTERIORS THEY CREATE!

f1 FABULOUS floors™

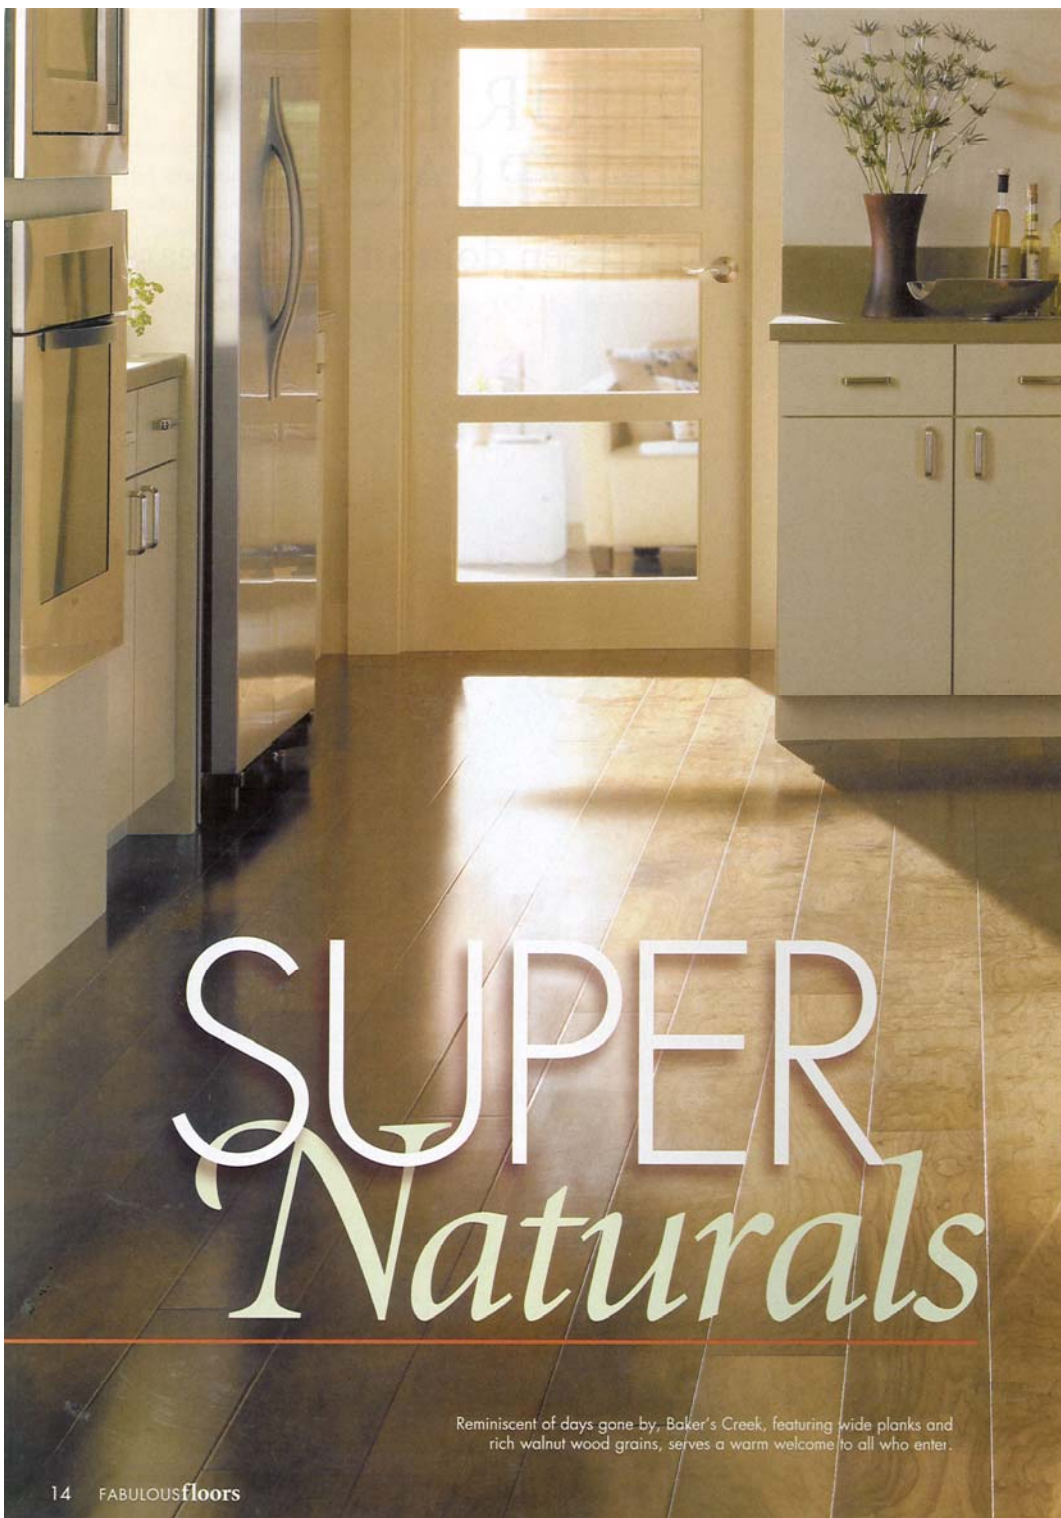

NO. 17 2008

Floors and Walls for the "GREEN" at heart

Designer's Walk:
Christina Aguilera's home

What, where and how to buy the best ...www.floorsource.com

SUPER Naturals

Reminiscent of days gone by, Baker's Creek, featuring wide planks and rich walnut wood grains, serves a warm welcome to all who enter.

| woodn't it be nice

Spring Unlocks the Genius of Nature!

Wood's rich patinas, subtle textures and distinctive grains bring a timeless grace to any room — hallways, kitchens, formal and informal spaces. While design trends have come and gone, a solid hardwood floor continues as a classic choice.

While preserving the classic appeal of wood, flooring manufacturers are discovering new design possibilities — even with familiar woods. For example, rotary or angled cuts produce different patterns on the face of the wood. Hand-scraped hardwood flooring generates an Old World appearance that is both elegant and rustic. >>

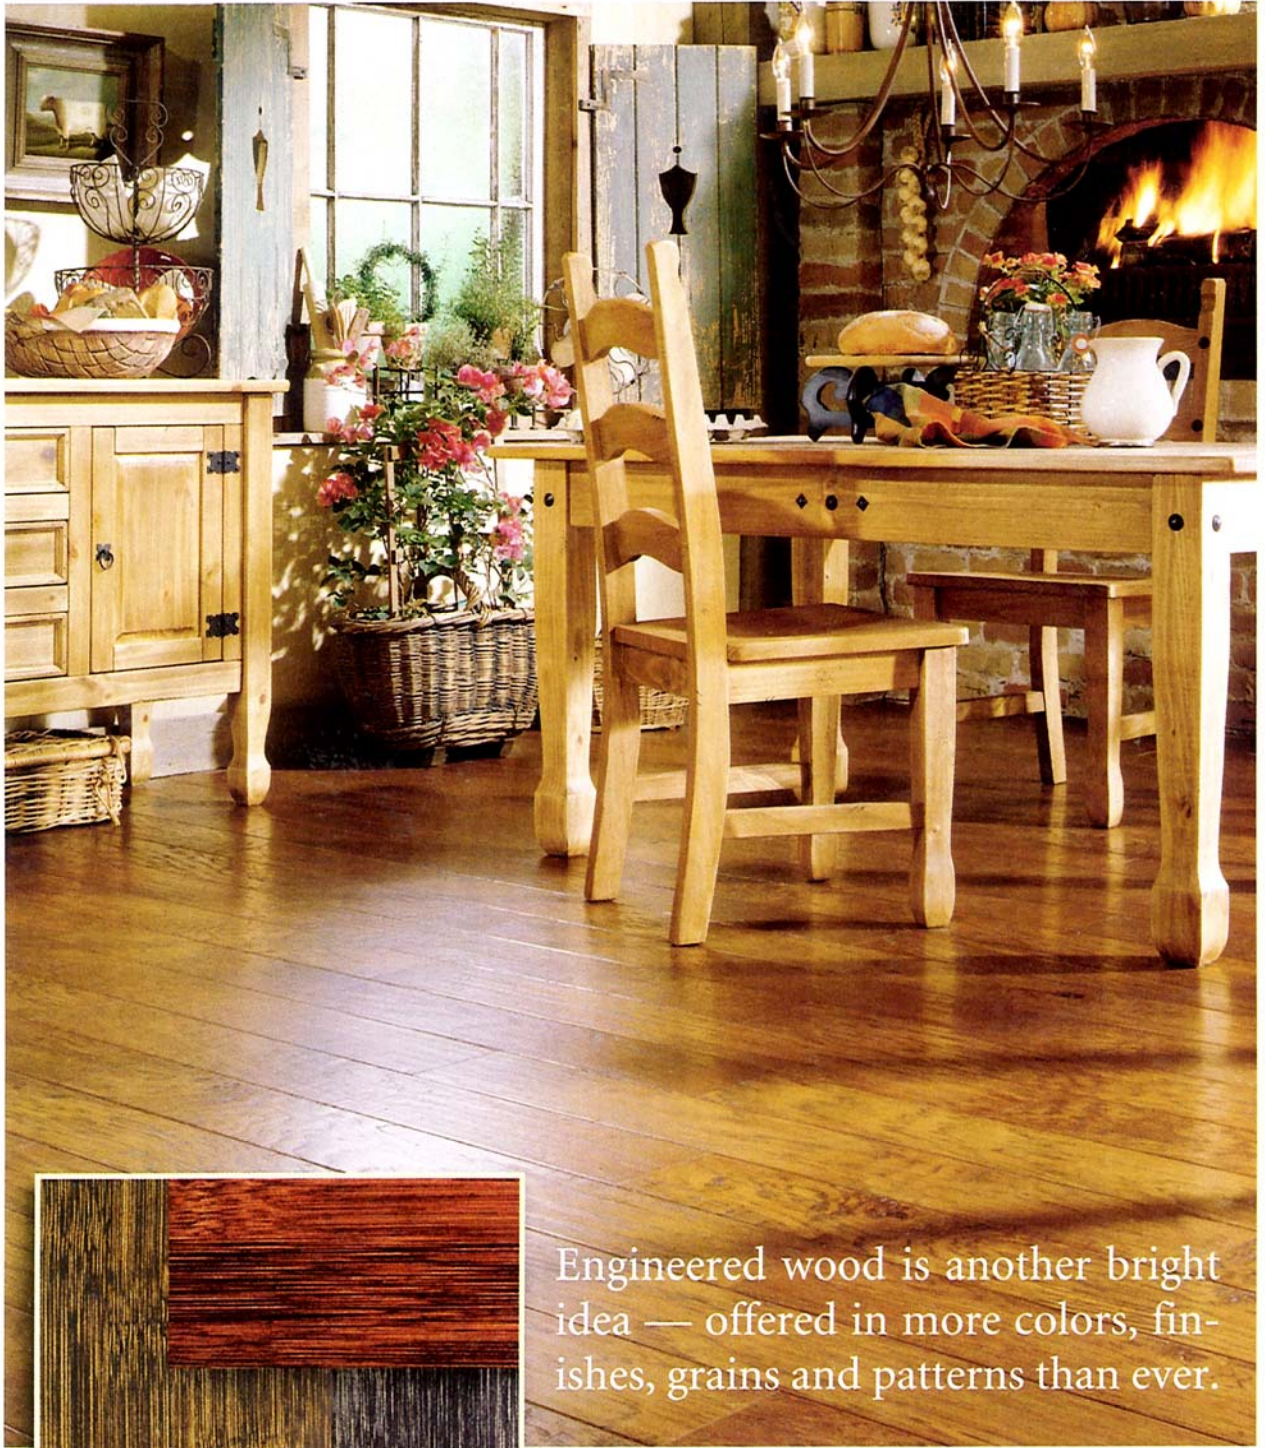

Influences from around the world are at our feet, as in this cork floor from Wicander's.

At top: Encapsulate the timeless beauty found in Anderson's Dellamano Collection 6.25" wide Hickory planks in color Biscotti. At bottom: It's Bamboo! Teragren's Signature Colors collection.

Capri Cork Rigato color selections.

Engineered wood is another bright idea — offered in more colors, finishes, grains and patterns than ever.

Parquets, for example, offer distinct, usually geometric, designs. “Engineered” can be glued, stapled or “floated” over the sub-floor. Some engineered floors are literally a “snap” to install and remove, and the perfect choice if you want radiant heat under your wood floor.

Prefinished woods, many with extended warranties and advanced finishes, may be more expensive initially, but the wear layer will protect your floor and simplify installation.