

Greenovate: The Greening of Central Ohio Greenblog

April 25th, 2008

Teragren Flooring

If you've ever shopped for bamboo flooring, you probably know that there is a huge range of price. I like to say that "all bamboo flooring is not created equal". That said, we over the years have dealt with some of the more inexpensive varieties, with lots of frustration.

Teragren is one of the only Bamboo flooring manufacturers that actually controls the "fields" and factories where their product is made. They are able to verify that it was produced sustainably, and they produce a very high quality product.

Why Teragren?

Questions to ask before you buy

As with any product you use on a project, you want to have confidence in the quality, durability and consistency of the bamboo flooring, cabinetry panel, parquet butcher block or veneer that you select. Here are some questions to ask as you search for the right bamboo product and the right bamboo source.